SENATOR HALE TO PRESIDE

And the Republican State Convention Will Be Held In Augusta June 29.

The Republican state committee at its meeting at the Augusta House Tuesday evening selected Augusta as the place for the next Republican state convention. The convention will be held in City hall and the date fixed is Wednesday, June 29, at 10 a. m. United States Senator Eugene Hale of Ellsworth was the choice of the committee for temporary chairman of the convention. The last Republican state convention held in Augusta was in 1888 when the late Hon. Llewellyn Powers of Houlton was nominated for Governor.

The basis of representation decided upon in the next state convention will be a delegate for every city, town and plantation in the State and an additional delegate for every 75 votes or fractional part thereof cast by the party in the State election of 1908. F. Marion Simpson of Bangor was selected as a member of the state committee from Penobscot county to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Henry W. Mayo of Hampden.

Remarks were made at the meeting of the committee by Senator Hale, Governor Fernald and ex-Governor William T. Cobb and John F. Hill. A telegram was received from Senator Frye stating that he hoped that the committee would invite Senator Hale to preside at the convention. Hon. Frederick A. Powers of Houlton, who recently announced his candidacy for the United States Senate to succeed Senator Hale, was present at the meeting of the committee.

Knox county was represented at the meeting by its former member of the state committee, Hon. Maynard S. Bird, who had the proxy of N. B. Eastman of Warren.

DONOHUE IS PRESIDENT

Maine Fishery Association Banquets Its Chief—Wardens Complimented.

The Maine Fishery Association held its annual meeting at the Penobscot Exchange in Bangor last Wednesday night and this was the first meeting of the association ever held in that city. Among those present were:

Commissioner James Donohue, Rockland; Leander R. Bunker, Cranberry Island; W. B. Thurlow, Stonington; C. A. Packard, Rockland; Reuel A. Packard, Rockland; Charles S. Coughlin, Rockland; Albert J. Rawley, Tenants Harbor.

After an excellent banquet had been enjoyed by the 23 wardens present, the business meeting was called to order and reports of the work of the past season were heard. From every warden came most encouraging reports. From his section and the outlook was never better, apparently, for the fishery interests of Maine, than it is today. At this meeting also officers were elected as follows:

Hon. James Donohue, Rockland, president; George A. Dow, Portland vice president; F. L. Hodgkins, La. York, corresponding secretary; Reuel A. Packard, treasurer; Reuel A. Packard, chairman; W. B. Thurlow, Stonington, and Charles Coughlin Rockland, executive committee.

Frank L. Hodgkins, George A. Dow, A. J. Rawley, James A. Hill, Reuel A. Packard, Daniel O. French and A. C. Johnson were appointed a committee to ask the Maine legislature to provide for most pay for the fish wardens of the state.

Commissioner Donohue spoke at some length of the duties of wardens. He made a little resume of the past and among other things congratulated the fishermen present on the way in which they have gradually educated the fishermen of the coast of Maine to see that the laws and their enforcement are good and in every way desirable for the fishermen themselves. The time was said Commissioner Donohue, when the fishermen thought the wardens of the fishery department were their worst enemies; now they look upon them as their friends. Once the fishermen hindered the wardens' work in every possible way; now most of them join with the wardens in the endeavor to bring about strict law enforcement.

Commissioner Donohue also made mention of the manner in which the work of the department has become systematized and ordered. Now reports are made out regularly by the wardens and the commissioner is able to know just what the conditions are and what is going on in every section of the state. The wardens were congratulated by the commissioner on the exact way in which they are doing their work and the real interest they take in pursuing the duties which devolve upon them. He spoke in a general way of the work all along the coast, so that all might know something of the general results from their efforts, speaking of the work of distributing seed lobsters and fry and seal fish during the past year 141,000,000 spawn have been placed in the waters between Rockland and Eastport.

TO RURAL DELIVERY PATRONS.

Coins Must Not Be Put in Mail Boxes Unless Wrapped Up.

Postmaster Fuller has received the following communication from the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, with the request that it be brought to the notice of all persons having boxes on Rural Free Delivery routes:

In view of the extent to which the practice of placing loose coins in boxes by rural patrons has grown, and the delay in the delivery and collection of mail and the hardship imposed on rural carriers incident thereto, you are informed that, commencing February 15, proximo, rural letter carriers will not be required to collect loose coins from rural mail boxes.

Patrons should enclose coins in an envelope, wrap them securely in a piece of paper, or deposit them in a coin-holding receptacle, so they can be easily and quickly taken from boxes, and carriers will be required to lift such coins, and, where accompanied by mail for dispatch, attach the requisite stamps.

This should be promptly announced to the rural patrons through whatever means you may employ, without expense to the Department, and you are at liberty to give the information embodied herein to your local papers for publication, if they so desire.

In this connection Postmaster Fuller desires to call attention of the R. F. D. route running out of Rockland to the fact that he has equipped the office with envelopes bearing a "return card," and urges upon patrons the convenience of making use of such envelopes. The card reads: "After 10 days return to R. D. Route, No. 1, Rockland, Maine. In the blank space the writer can insert either his name or the number of his mail box, insuring proper return of the letter should it fail of its destined delivery."

These stamped and printed envelopes will cost singly three cents apiece, or 7 for 15 cents, and at that rate, seven envelopes thus costing only one cent. The price per hundred is $1.15. They can be bought at the postoffice, or of Carrier Benner who will carry them with him on his route.

MADAM LANGENDORFF'S CONCERT.

The announcement that the peerless Swedish singer, Madam Langendorff, was to give a concert in Farwell opera house Thursday evening, March 3, has created a furore in musical circles and no doubt there will be a crowded house. Tickets are now in the hands of the members of the Philharmonic Society. Madam Langendorff will be assisted by Miss Margaret L. Wilson, violinist.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Ell A. Staples and Ava A. Haskell have filed intentions of marriage.

Miss Cecile Smith of Swan's Island has been visiting the Misses Ellen and Dorothy Kent of 58 Rankin street, for a few days.

If any of our readers have a couch and a rocking chair to pass on for sunshine, will they kindly send them to 386 Broadway. It is for a very worthy cause and will be greatly appreciated.

State Secretary Jefferson C. Smith of Waterville visited the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday, and in the evening addressed some 25 of the juniors and intermediates on the subject of the boys' state convention which will be held in Augusta, Feb. 18-20. It is going to be an unusually strong convention. Dr. Frother of New York, an authority on gymnasium work and athletics, will be one of the speakers. The Ladies' Auxiliary served a lunch to the gathering Tuesday evening.

An examination of candidates for census enumerators is to be held in this city Feb. 5 before the local civil service board. Secretary Rankin has been notified by Commissioner Morrill N. Drew of Portland that 33 candidates have filed papers and are entitled to take the examination here. The examination will consume three hours and it is probable the applicants will have to be divided into two groups for examination at separate hours, as the civil service room at the postoffice building is limited in its capacity. The time for filing papers expired Jan. 25.

In our Tuesday issue appeared a news item relative to City Solicitor Claude L. Allen of Melrose, Mass., who had gone to Washington to argue an important tax case. Mr. Allen's many friends in this section will be pleased to learn that he was victorious. An outline of the case, which was being watched by army and navy men all over the country, has already appeared in this paper. Upon his return from Washington Mr. Allen was called upon to argue another important case before Massachusetts last court.

Mrs. E. A. Healey, one of Rockland's well known and venerable women, mourns the loss of two grandchildren, who died in distant cities. One was Albert Healey of Belfast of whose obituary appears elsewhere; the other was Mrs. Mabel Smith, who died Jan. 11 at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Blake in Bedford, Mass. Deceased was a native of Rockland, her maiden name being Mabel Pease. She was 42 years of age. Asthma was the cause of her demise. She is survived by one son, Harold. The Church Herod, published by the First Methodist Episcopal church of Boston, published the following tribute to the deceased: "Word came Tuesday night that Mabel Smith had gone—Mabel whom we so loved, who has been so active, efficient and in every way helpful in our church. No one ever came to her or her mother for any sort of help and was refused or turned aside. It is a blessing to have known her. To her it is a joyful release from terrible sufferings into rest, health and reunion with the dear husband gone only a short time before. She is happily waiting for the little boy she did not want to leave, for the mother she had hoped to care for always, for the brothers and sisters so greatly loved, for the grandmother of whom she was so proud and others so dear to her." Mrs. Rebecca Ingraham of this city attended the funeral services.

When You Take Cold

One way is to pay no attention to it; at least not until it develops into pneumonia, or bronchitis, or pleurisy. Another way is to ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. If he says, "The best thing for colds," then take it. Do as he says, anyway.

Ayer's
We publish our formulae. We banish alcohol from our medicines. We urge you to consult your doctor.

When the bowels are constipated, poisonous substances are absorbed into the blood instead of being daily removed from the body as nature intended. Knowing this danger, doctors always inquire about the condition of the bowels. Ayer's Pills.

MARRIED SIXTY YEARS

Justus E. Sherman and Wife Receive Friends On Occasion of That Important Anniversary.

The 60th anniversary of their wedding was celebrated Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Justus E. Sherman of Ingraham Hill. They received their friends from 7 to 10 p. m. and refreshments were served which furnished abundant proof that Mrs. Sherman has lost none of her cooking skill, those expected to be present is Mr. Sherman's sister, Mrs. Mary W. Gray of Rockland, who 81 years old. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman were married Jan. 29, 1850, by Rev. Mr. Fernald of the Universalist church, Thomaston. Their home prior to 20 years ago was in Rockland. Since that time they have resided at Ingraham Hill, where Mr. Sherman owns a fine piece of shore property on the edge of the present cottage district. His house commands a fine view of the harbor and bay.

Mr. Sherman was born in Belmont, Oct. 1, 1828, the son of Abijah and Hannah (Wilson) Sherman. His paternal grandfather, Nathan, Sherman, came from Marshfield, Mass. and bought directly from Gen. Henry Knox, Washington's war secretary who had extensive real estate holdings in the eastern part of Knox county. The original deed, bearing the signatures of Gen. Knox and his wife Lucy, are now in Mr. Sherman's possession. The family of Abijah Sherman moved to South Thomaston when Justus was a child, and he was brought up on the old homestead at the Head of the Bay. His parents died many years ago.

When he was 17 Mr. Sherman began seafaring, but did not make many trips. At 20 he learned the painter's trade in Boston. Returning to this city he was employed by N. A. & S. H. Burpee Co. until 1854, when he went into business for himself, which he carried on successfully until 1878.

His public political career began in 1874 when he was elected county treasurer, a position which he filled two terms. In 1877 he was elected register of deeds for Knox county and in that office served with much ability for 12 years until defeated by Frank B. Miller in the Republican landslide of 1889. He subsequently he served as the Democratic member of the registration board. Since retiring from that office he has busied himself with clerical work and duties connected with the estate. He enjoys good health and is remarkably active for a man of 81. His penmanship will put to shame that of the best high school student of the present day. He is a Democrat of unquestioned loyalty and though not altogether favorable to Bryanism works for the national ticket with the same vigor that he does the local candidates.

Mrs. Sherman was formerly Rebecca Keene. She is a daughter of the late Charles Keene of Waldoboro and was born Oct. 31, 1821, being the youngest and sole surviving member of a family of 10. The family moved to Rockland when she was 10 having previously resided a year and a half in St. George. She united with the First Baptist church of Rockland 51 years ago during the pastorate of Rev. Nathl Butler, and is one of its oldest members. She likes the Bible better than anything else she reads, but is anxious to have the newspapers come and reads them scrupulously so as to keep in touch with current events. She is a woman remarkably well preserved for one who stands on the threshold of octogenarian, and delights with her youthful spirits and jolly ways.

"How do you employ your idle time?" asked the reporter. "It's little idle time I have," laughed Mrs. Sherman, who exhibits no small amount of pride in the fact that she was able to do the housework and practically all of the cooking for a family of seven last summer. "I don't read," she said with a twinkle in her eye. She likes to sew and to read. She uses glasses, but her hearing is as keen as it was in her youthful days. "She's one of the smartest women in Knox county," intervened one of her husband, for which remark he was chided in mock indignation by his faithful partner of 60 long years.

Four children were born to them: Eureka, who is the wife of John Anatoyne of Brooklyn; Edward A. Sherman, who died in 1890; Mina, who died many years ago and Dr. Wilson B. Sherman, a well known veterinary surgeon.

OFFICERS OF PLEASANT VALLEY GRANGE INSTALLED.

Last Tuesday, Jan. 25, the following officers of Pleasant Valley Grange were installed by Bro. Reuben Thordike in his very pleasing and impressive manner: Master, Frank E. Post; Overseer, Wilbert H. Rice; Lecturer, Reuben S. Thordike; Steward, Clarence L. Frost; Assistant Steward, Arthur L. Rokes; Chaplain, Adelaide I. Bartlett; Treasurer, A. S. Bartlett; Secretary, Ben D. Tolman; Gate Keeper, Charles H. Thordike; Ceres, Julia A. Post; Pomona, Mary P. Frost; Flora, Marietta C. Moody; Lady Assistant Steward, Milla V. Wiley. This work was very ably done, both by Mr. Thordike and his assistants, Mabel B. Thordike and Charles O. Rokes, acting as marshals. Better work could not be comprehended than was put upon the floor on this occasion. At the close of the installation of the other officers excepting lecturer, A. B. Bartlett installed the lecturer-elect in an impressive manner. As refreshments were served the Tuesday before at Mr. Mayo's lecture, and the Grange Circle met the following Thursday, it was thought best to hold the installation with just the members of Pleasant Valley Grange, and serve no refreshments.

Love's Secret.

Never seek to tell thy love,
Love that never told is best;
For the gentle wind doth move
Silently, invisibly.
I told my love, I told my love,
I told her all my heart,
Trembling, cold, in ghastly fears:
Ah! she did depart.
So after she was gone from me,
A traveler came by,
Silently, invisibly,
He took her with a sigh? —Blake

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT

Rockland, January 28, 1910.
Personally appeared Harold G. Cole, who on oath declares: That he is president in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of January 25, 1910, there was printed a total of 4,410 copies.
Before me: J. W. CROCKER, Notary Public.

The choice of Senator Hale as presiding officer of next summer's Republican State Convention is a pretty good indication of the hold the Senator has upon the political sentiment of his state. The Bangor News this week says editorially:

If the State of Maine is to reject Senator Hale, it would seem in the words of a Document held in high regard by Americans that a "decent respect for the opinion of mankind" requires the setting forth of reasons for such action. The immediate future is of worldwide gravity—the changing conditions in England—the readjustment of treaty relations throughout the world in which the United States is intimately and vitally concerned—all would indicate the very great value of the services based on the long experience and acknowledged judgment of the Senator. When his position is challenged, the reply is obvious, i. e. "By what right," unless by right of superior fitness for better service to the Nation, and that should be shown.

The Boston Herald of Wednesday, in an editorial reviewing the situation from the viewpoint of an outside observer, indicates the grave mistake that Maine would make in retiring from public life a statesman of the recognized national and worldwide reputation that Senator Hale enjoys. Such a step would disgrace Maine in the eyes of the entire country. But it is a step our people will not take. Senator Hale is certain to succeed himself. The Herald, after commenting upon the nature of the manifested opposition proceeds:

The Republicans of Maine are not likely to forget the prestige and power which that state has enjoyed in national affairs. They will not delude themselves with the idea that it has been the wealth, the population, the material forces of the state, or its numerical strength in Congress, or a recognized position as a determining factor in national elections, that has given it this power and prestige. They will recognize, as other New England states recognize, that New England influence in Congress is due to the men who have been sent there and who continue to be sent there, term after term, exerting in Washington as they do at home a strength exceeding any political calculation, merely by their recognized personal merit. Maine's influence on national legislation for a half century has been beyond the measurement of votes. The Republican majorities, state interests represented, the wealth and influence of the state have been raised to the higher degrees of power by the men who have been its Congressmen and Senators.

Senator Hale, with more than 40 years of public life behind him, with a familiarity with national affairs of many terms in the House and Senate, recognized as a state leader, chairman of the important committee on appropriation, a member of the committee on naval affairs and of the committee on finance, wielded for his state a great power in national legislation. That fact is recognized, without statement, throughout the country. It is not likely that the people of Maine will ignore it. Maine, as well as Massachusetts, has believed in the permanency of the Senatorial office. This belief has been confirmed by experience, in which the accumulation of influence and power with the experience of continued occupancy of the office has brought honor and distinction, as well as material benefit, to the Commonwealth, in greater measure than to the individual. As public sentiment in Massachusetts stands today against the schemes of personal ambition and political desire in defense of able and meritorious service for State and Nation through a long term of years, so Maine, if its truer and deep-dying controlling sentiment is expressed, will demand that the political spoilsman keep their hands off the Senatorial seat.

SEWELL WATSON VEAZIE.

Sewall Watson Veazie, a well known resident of the north, who had been in failing health for many years, died Saturday afternoon at his home on North Main street, aged 86 years. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon, Rev. W. J. Day officiating. The pall-bearers were Joseph J. Veazie, Arthur Veazie, Fred T. Veazie and Oscar Frost. The interment was at Achorn cemetery. Mr. Veazie was a native of Camden but had spent most of his long life in Rockland. He was a son of Abner and Grace (Ames) Veazie. Years ago he was a trader at the north, but before retiring from active work had for a long time been a cooper. He was a Democrat of the very staunchest type and for more than half a century had been in the councils of the leaders. He served as treasurer of Knox county in the 80's. He is survived by his wife whose maiden name was Mary E. Thordike, one daughter, Mrs. Sadie Ferris. A brother, Parker Veazie, who resides in California, is now the sole survivor of a family which has had an important share in this city's affairs.

THE GREATEST SENSATION OF THE SEASON.

The Cora Youngblood Corson Sextette opened a week's engagement at the New Dramaland Theatre Monday afternoon and the large audiences of all performances pronounce it to be the greatest and best act ever seen in Rockland. The sextet is composed of six real girls in music and song, and they carry their own scenery and electrical effects besides carrying the most expensive band instruments in the world. The euphonium alone which is used by Miss Corson, cost $10,000 and the other instruments cost accordingly. Their program, which is given below, is one that will delight all lovers of good music.

"The Little Arrow" (Indian Song); Sky Rocket Polka. (euphonium solo by Miss Corson, in which she uses a $10,000 instrument) Sextette from Lucia (opera Lucia de Lamare) Vacant Chair and Dixie (sextette); Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep. (Tuba solo, Miss Corson, in which she uses the largest solo instrument in the world) Senora. (sextette). Swastika (John Ciohr's latest march). The girls change their act on Thursday will be even superior to the one they are now presenting. They give one performance in the afternoon, and two each evening. The pictures are even better than usual, feature being "The Restoration," and is one that you can't afford to miss. Mr. Brennan will sing "When the Bloom is on the Heather."

"Is There An Unpardonable Sin?" will be Mr. Tillingham's subject next Sunday evening. Other subjects like this of general interest will be treated in the following Sunday evenings—Helps on the Bible. Mr. Tillingham has Universalist literature for free distribution. Also a book of 100 pages, profusely illustrated, entitled, "What the Universalist Church is Doing," prepared and just issued by the Rev. Wm. H. M. Gaudin, D. D., General Superintendent of the church. It is a 25c book, but Mr. Tillingham secured 100, so that he can sell them at cost for 10 cents each.

A. W. Gregory arrived Saturday from a trip to Rochester, N. Y., where he attended the opening of L. Adler Bros. & Co.'s new clothing factory. Eighteen states were represented by the 175 guests who attended the banquet given by the firm at one of the leading hotels. The new plant is believed to represent the summit of modern ideas in the wholesale clothing trade. The Adler already employ 800 men and women there and the force is being constantly increased. There are 178,000 feet of floor space in the building, connected with which are a restaurant, hospital, women's rest room and a reading and smoking room for employees. Mr. Gregory brought home one of the handsome silver souvenirs of the banquet, an eagle surmounting a pair of shears. On his way home Mr. Gregory was the guest of his brother, S. W. Gregory in Stamford, Conn. Brook has an excellent position there and is nicely located, but the members of the family are not ashamed to admit that they are homesick for Rockland.

Mrs. Geo. Palmer and Mrs. C. M. Walker are the chairmen. A circle supper comes at 6:30, to which the public is welcome.

Elbert Hubbard of East Aurora, Roycroft fame appears in this city at Pillsbury hall next Monday evening, Feb. 7. A few weeks ago Mr. Hubbard delivered his lecture "Untapped Reservoirs" in City Hall. Portland to a crowded house and the Portland papers the next day gave columns of praise to his merits as an entertainer. Hubbard is one of the most picturesque men of the century and it is rare that so small a city as Rockland has an opportunity to hear so gifted an orator. Hubbard's famous "Message to Garcia" has had a circulation of over twenty-two million copies and has been translated and printed in eleven languages.

A supper and dancing party was given at Crescent Beach last Thursday evening in honor of Francis Maddocks of North Dakota, who is visiting his old home at Owl's Head. The affair was arranged by his sisters, and among those present were many of his former schoolmates. After the guests had paid their respects to the supper the dining room was cleared for dancing. St. Clair's orchestra mounted on a high-backed chair furnished music. Some of the Head's older residents showed the young folks that they can still do a clever stunt tripping the light fantastic. Such a good time did they all have that it was voted to repeat the event three weeks from that night.

ACCIDENT IN WARREN.

Walter Sweeney of Lewiston, who is employed at the portable mill in Warren, was the victim of a serious accident in that town yesterday afternoon, as the result of which he is at Knox hospital suffering from what appears to be concussion of the brain. Mr. Sweeney and a companion drove in from the mill during the afternoon and in rounding the corner by the woolen mill the wagon seat, which had been insecurely fastened, gave way. Mr. Sweeney was thrown over backward, striking headforemost on the frozen ground. His companion, whose name was not learned, was also considerably shaken and bruised. Mr. Sweeney was taken into the mill office, and cared for by Des. Gage and Wakefield until the car arrived, when he was taken to the hospital in a semi-conscious condition. His condition changed but little during the night.

Undismayed by the recent drubbing it received from the Thomas trio, Anastasia's team again went up against that powerful combination last Thursday night and succeeded in landing another victory. Anastasia had the largest 10-string total, and Dwyer the largest single string. Only three pins separated the teams at the beginning of the last string. Following is the summary:

The service next Sunday morning in the Universalist church will be memorial to the late pastor, Rev. E. H. Chapin, who died Feb. 6, 1909. Flowers will be welcomed, to send out to the sick and shut ins, of whom Mr. Chapin was always so thoughtful. Flowers from this service will have a double meaning to those to whom he ministered. Lodges and societies, as well as individuals may take advantage of this. No set pieces are desired.

The crew were forced to take to the top of the house, which was the largest piece of wreckage in sight when the schooner broke up. They drifted 10 hours before being picked up by the gunboat Paducah. The vessel was commanded by Capt. Frank H. Meader of Melrose, formerly of this city.

Frank H. Thomas has returned from a brief business trip in Boston.

The benefit which was to have been given at the home of Mrs. Henry Alden on Friday evening, has been postponed until this Tuesday evening and will be held at the new Herald office building on Bay View St. This will give lovers of whist a lot of room and a chance to see the new building of which the townspeople are very proud.

At the meeting of Seaside Chapter, O. E. S. on Monday, Jan. 24, the members were entertained by vocal selections by Mrs. Jennie Hill Robbins of Lawrence, Mass., who is a member of the order in that city. Mrs. Robbins is ever a favorite with Camden audiences and continues to please as heretofore. She returned to her home on Tuesday.

The dance which was to have been held in the Engine hall on Friday night has been indefinitely postponed.

Mr. E. A. Kelley, Belvidere, Ill., writes us: "I am an ex-engineer with 23 years active service to my credit. About three years ago my kidneys were affected so that I had to give up my engine. First I was troubled with severe, aching pain over the hips. Then followed inflammation of the bladder, and specks appeared before my eyes. A sample of Foley's Kidney Pills that I tried, so benefited me that I bought more. I continued to take them until now I can safely testify they have made me a sound and well man." P. H. Call, Rockland; H. Newman, Warren, Me.

William Tell Flour

Wheat Cleaned Six Times

The equipment for wheat cleaning is as extensive and expensive as that for grinding purposes. The freedom of flour from dirt and bacteria shows in its appearance.

Print: WM JACO.

Wheat specially selected for William Tell Flour is stored in hermetically sealed tanks at Ansted & Burke's big mills.

It is cleaned six times before grinding. Everything—even the sewing of the bags—is done by clean, bright machinery. Note how much purer William Tell is than other flours. This means wheat cleaning by the most complete equipment known to modern milling science.

William Tell Flour has the brilliant bloom such as only Ohio wheat can make. Ask your dealer, and insist on having—

ROCKPORT

The minstrels and ball given by the Rockport fire department on the evening of Jan. 20 was unquestionably the event of the season thus far. The revival of minstrel shows seems to be looked upon favorably by the people of this community as the Town hall with all the extra seats was altogether inadequate to supply the demand. More seats were brought in but they were quickly filled and the later arrivals were compelled to stand. Tremendous applause followed the more favored songs or specialties. Leonard Erickson, the intercomer, was called back after singing "Will You Love Me When I'm Old?" Hosea Barlow answered three calls with parodies on the original song, "Over on the Jersey Side." The parodies met with great applause. "My Dream of the U. S. A." with original parodies by True Spear, assisted by L. Erickson and Fred Hall, met with great applause. Sullivan, the Rockland songster and buck and wing dancer, had a number of encores. "Nobody Knows and Nobody Cares" was rendered by William York and "Sweetheart of Mine Be True," by Chas. Kibble. Masters Coats and neckties made a grand showing. "Then We'll All Go Home," by Mr. Erickson, assisted by the company concluded the chorus. In the old Albert Nutter, a local amateur, performed some very remarkable stunts on the slack wire. True Spear in his song specialty, "Up in My Aeroplane," seemed to please and was called back again and again. The one-act sketch, "Town Hall Tonight," by Stevens and Spear is said to be the best one-act sketch ever produced in this town, and by request was repeated at the Y. M. C. A. last Friday evening, Jan. 28. Over 400 people witnessed the minstrels and dance. Never before has such an entertainment been produced in Rockport. The visiting companies were N. A. Burpee, Capt. A. R. Havenor of Rockland; Sears, Capt. T. J. Burns of Rockland; American Hook & Ladder Company, Rockland; Camden fire department, Uly Blackington foreman. Music for the minstrels was furnished by Mrs. Belle Tyler of Camden, assisted by Singlet's orchestra, and the dance forgetting the time danced well into the morning and at 2:30 the car left carrying a crowd of people that had enjoyed an evening long to be remembered.

BEIRUMDA TRIP MARCH 15.

There are fine hotels at Bermuda, the objective point for a large party of tourists in March with a chance for 100 from Maine to join. The choice of five is allowed on this particular trip. The Frascati, New Windsor, Imperial Kenwood Hall, St. George, and the American, W. R. Francis, 547 Congress street, Portland, have engaged quarters for 100 on the palatial steamer Orotava and is making daily bookings which is not singular when the price, $67.50, is taken into consideration.

The sum does not seem adequate for the trip, two weeks, but it is. That pays railroad, hotel, taxicab fare in New York, the steamer passage and hotel bills in Bermuda. The average per day is low and it simply is an indication of the wonderful travel privileges of this generation.

There is more beauty in Bermuda than any other island of any sea. It has a charming climate, there is a fine class of inhabitants, the natural beauties are unsurpassed and the island affords a variety of diversions and amusements for the stay of eight days. Better than all this, the privilege of getting away from March in the bad two weeks of spring when this climate is obnoxious even to the Esquimaux. The Orotava has an orchestra and the United States band of the trip which may be had on application.

GUARANTEED PILE CURE

Backed By Your Leading Druggist.

If you have any kind of piles, get a box of Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid at C. H. Pendleton's on the money back plan.

Hem-Roid is made from Dr. Leonard's own prescription—a tablet remedy, taken internally and cures thoroughly by removing the internal cause of piles, softening the bowels and obviating the need of cutting operations will not do.

La Grippe pains that pervade the entire system, La Grippe coughs that rack and strain, are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar. It is mildly laxative, safe and certain in results. F. H. Call, Rockland; H. Newman, Warren.

The revival meetings under the leadership of Evangelist Smith are steadily increasing in interest. Thursday was the day of prayer. The services are held in the Baptist church this week. G. I. Waltz has charge of the music.

Wiwurna Chapter, O. E. S., had a public installation Saturday evening, Jan. 22. Officers installed were: Adelle Waltz, W. M.; S. L. Miller, W. P.; Carrie Palmer, A. M.; Dora York, Sec.; Carrie Miller, Treas.; Mary Wade, Conv.; Isie Vannan, Asst. Conv.; Rev. N. Pearson, Chap.; Mabel Gilman, Marshal; Emma Pearson, Organist; Grace York, Adah; Sophia Randall, Ruth; Vira Noyes, Escher; Carrie Euzley, Martha; Jamesina Grant, Elsie; Edwora Miller, Warder; E. J. H. Miller, Sentinel. The installing officer, Edith Lenfest, W. A. G. M., performed the work in a very interesting manner and the presence of Reed's quartette, which gave several musical selections, added to the pleasure of the company. A fine collation was served in the dining hall adjoining Masonic hall. Post prandial speeches were made by clergymen and other guests present.

SEA TALES

ANDREW S. ARES

Since our first parents made their historical raid

One trait that was labeled taboo, The writers of verse,

Good, indifferent and worse, Have told all the stories they knew Of the mystical sea

Like the wonders there be— Oh, those beautiful tropical isles, The mermaid that sings,

The manna with wings, And the brown hours' ravishing smiles; Of the ocean's dim trails

Chill in the shipboard's rooms, Where the men of affairs, Maritime hold the chairs

To the floor near the stove, Here, on cold winter days, Nicotine is the sole of tars—

And the alert officer staid, Hands on the wheel and spitoons, On some brands of object cigars.

You may hear of a wreck, Or learn of some "sea canes and sines," Perhaps double some cape

In a seamanlike shape, Where winter winds whistle and whine; Or enliven in some bright, In a dangerous plight,

Club-hall with the greatest of ease; When the broker hears that, For he served on the whole seven seas!

What ails there be? Close hit in your shallows and deep; You are partial to wrecks, And 'tis me to the old farm for keeps.

Charming costumes of thirty years ago, and attractive stage settings were features of the play. VAUDEVILLE HITS AT OPERA HOUSE.

The vaudeville bill offered at Farwell opera house this week is pleasing. A big feature is Kimball and Lewis, a versatile comedy couple who introduce a refined singing, dancing, talking and acrobatic specialty. Good singing and dancing comedians are few and far between, but when you see Joe Hearn and Matt Rutter there is some class to this act. Mr. Carroll is at his best this week and is rendering two excellent songs. While Prof. Bishop, the king of all piano players, is rendering one of the finest musical programs of the season. Tomorrow (Wednesday) there will be an entire new change of pictures and the patrons may expect something out of the ordinary. On Thursday there will be the usual mid-week change in vaudeville, when still a greater program will be offered, and on Friday night there will be the eighth amateur contest.

REVIEWED THE REVIVAL

Interesting Reports From Local Pastors—
Total Attendance at Evangelistic Meetings Exceeded 20,000

A review of the recent evangelistic services and an estimate of the result was the text of four interesting addresses delivered at Sunday night's union meeting in the First Baptist church. The attendance was large and the congregation listened with pleasure to the singing of the large chorus, which contained a majority of the voices heard at the Elliott meetings.

Following are brief abstracts of the four addresses:

RETROSPECTION, REV. W. J. DAY.

The month of January, 1910, will be a memorable one in the history of Rockland for years to come. For the religious forces of the city, it will be the high water mark of comparison for future revival efforts. Two things especially, made possible the pronounced success of the revival. One was the efficient machinery in the way of organization, preparatory to the meetings; the other was the almost perfect weather conditions during the three weeks' campaign.

Now that the evangelist and his assistants have gone, the questions which naturally arise are these: What are the results? What has been accomplished? What may we hope for the future from the work? A full answer cannot be given as yet, to these questions. Something however may be declared. Impressions have been made, and the pastors are here to voice their feelings, and give expression to their convictions respecting the recent revival. My part in the program this evening is to review the actual work; while my brethren will deal with the spiritual and practical results, according to their observation and experience.

My first word is in the nature of a report. The total number of meetings held, not including the regular Sunday morning services, were 69. This number includes 32 neighborhood prayer meetings. There were two meetings for men only; three for women, and two for boys and girls. Dr. Elliott addressed 34 meetings, not including the Sunday mornings, when he preached for different pastors. The conservative estimated attendance at these services of which a record was kept, (the seating capacity of buildings being known) was 19,870. Reports from 26 of the neighborhood prayer meetings gave an attendance of 262, thus making a total attendance of 20,132. The average attendance for the 37 meetings held in churches and opera house was 537.

The following places to our knowledge were represented in these audiences: Belfast, Camden, Rockport, West Rockport, North Haven, Vinalhaven, Owl's Head, Ash Point, South Thomaston, Thomaston, Warren, Union, St. George, Tenant's Harbor and Friendship. Reports of every meeting were furnished to the press, which gave generous space for that purpose, as may be seen from this statement. The Courier-Gazette gave 404 inches, of about 17 columns. The Opinion gave 127 inches, or 5 columns. This press publicity was of great value, and no doubt did much to increase attendance at the various services.

My second word is in the nature of congratulation. We received during these meetings nearly a thousand dollars, which was about equally divided between expenses and a free will offering to Dr. Elliott. Such giving on the part of Christians and the citizens of Rockland is splendid testimony to their generosity and to the spiritual power of the revival. I congratulate you upon such a fine showing financially.

I would pay tribute also, to the loyal support given to this enterprise by all the committees, the personal workers, and the chorus choir. Your enthusiasm and devotion was superior, and the success of the revival is due in no small measure to this strong and continued support. Throughout the entire time of preparation and actual engagement, the utmost Christian fellowship, unity and harmony has prevailed among the pastors and people. Nothing occurred to disturb the serenity of spirit which has characterized this union effort.

Rockland has never seen anything like this revival. The city has been stirred by a tide of spiritual power, which is bound to leave its mark upon our community for years to come.

INTROSPECTION—REV. J. D. TILLINGHAST.

Rev. James D. Tillinghast said in part, based upon Luke 19:9: Every person who comes into touch with the great evangelistic meetings was moved to think, and to think deeply upon the course of his own life, and to compare that course with the way in which Jesus Christ lived. Jesus Christ was lifted before men boldly and kindly, and those who were not already following him as his Master were urged to do so now. Inward were turned the thoughts of hundreds. Many Christians renewed their allegiance. Many other people decided to take Christ for their Saviour now.

This did not change them inwardly into perfect beings, but it set them upon the right road. As Jesus said to Zaccheus, so he might say to all of those who seek his way of life in sincerity. "This day is salvation come to this house." Zaccheus had still to go and restore fourfold to any man of whom he had wrongfully exacted, and he still had to give the half of his goods to the poor. He promised those things. He had them still to do when Jesus spoke of his salvation. And he had for the rest of his life the great aim of trying to be more and more like his Saviour. I am sure that this salvation came to many men, women and young people, and I bid you Godspeed and Christian sympathy in your new way of life.

PROSPECTION—REV. MR. JUDD.

Prospection was the subject assigned Rev. B. P. Judd. The story of the Transfiguration will serve as an introduction to my theme. The disciples were taken to the mountain, but when Jesus led them down the mountain they found why that could not be. For in the valley below were broken-hearted parents with a boy possessed and tormented by evil whom Jesus alone could deliver. We have been on a mountain top of blessing but we could not stay there for our work was waiting for us in the valley below. We must come down among the people who have not been up the mountain, into the old atmosphere, to do the old-time work. This experience has been given us so that we may do that work, and solve those problems with a new loyalty and skill. The pray meeting, Sunday school ought to feel the new spirit that has come to us. Then the people who have taken some step toward a better life are many of them still undecided. A word of kindly encouragement may set the matter. Here lies our work. Again into our several churches in coming these new ones. Shall we furnish them a home or will that be a

A PERSONAL WORD—REV. MR. MOUSLEY.

In speaking my personal word, I cannot touch upon the particular interest that has attended the special religious work that has been going on in this city under the Champion-Alexander movement except as it impressed me near its close.

I hear the work well spoken of by the most sane and conservative people and it seems to have been conspicuous by the absence of those features which in some movements of this kind have made them of questionable value. In the earnest and fearless presentation of Christian truths and principles and the urgent appeals which were made there seems to have been no undue excitement and no attempt to make the emotions overbalance the judgment. It was always an appeal to the best and one pleasing feature of the whole work was the unity of spirit with which it was carried on,—the dif-

WHO ARE THE GUILTY ONES?

A Strong Plea For Temperance

"Prisoner at the bar," said the judge
"have you anything to say why sentence of death shall not be passed upon you?"

A solemn hush fell over the crowded court room, and every person waited in almost breathless expectation for the answer to that question.

The judge waited in dignified silence.
Not a whisper was heard anywhere,
and the situation became painfully oppressive.

Then the prisoner was seen to move.
His head was raised, his hands clenched,
while the blood rushed to his face, care-worn face. Suddenly he arose to his feet, and in a low, but firm voice said:

"I have, your Honor. You have asked me a question, and I now ask, as a last favor on earth, that you will not interrupt my answer until I am through."

"I stand before this bar, convicted of the wilful murder of my wife. Truthful witnesses have testified to the fact that I was a loafer, a drunkard and a wretch—that I returned from one of my prolonged debauches, and fired the fatal shot which killed the wife I had sworn to love, cherish and protect."

"When I have no remembrance of committing the fatal deed, I have no right to complain or to condemn the verdict of the twelve good men who have acted as jury in this case, for their verdict is in accordance with the evidence which I myself have heard."

A Startling Statement

"But, may it please the court, I wish to show that I am not alone responsible for the murder of my wife!"

This startling statement created a tremendous sensation. The judge leaped over the desk, the lawyers wheeled around and faced the prisoner, while the jurors looked at each other in amazement.

The prisoner paused a moment, and then continued in the same distinct voice:

"Yes, I repeat it, I am not the only one guilty of the murder of my wife.
The judge on this bench, the jury in the box, the lawyers within this bar, and most of the witnesses, including the pastor of the old church, are also guilty, before Almighty God, and will have to stand with me before His judgment throne, where we shall all be rightfully judged for all our thoughts and deeds."

"If there had not been saloons in my town I would not have become a drunkard, my wife would not have been murdered, and I would not be here now, ready to be hurled into eternity. Had it not been for these human traps I would have been a sober man, an industrious workman, a tender father, and a loving husband. But today my home is destroyed, my little children cast out onto the world, while I am to be hung by the strong arm of the state."

"God knows I have tried to reform, and prayed for strength to withstand the licensed temptation, but so long as the open saloon was in my pathway my weak and diseased will power was no match against the fearful, agonizing, consuming appetite for drink."

"For one year our town was without a saloon. I was one of those who signed the remonstrances against the reopening of saloons in our town. One-half of this jury, the prosecuting attorney on this case and the judge who sits on this bench all voted for the saloons. By their votes and influence saloons were reopened, and they have helped to make me what I am."

The impassioned words of the prisoner fell like coals of fire upon the hearts of those who had not before expressed a motion as if to stop further speech, but the prisoner hastily said:
"Your Honor, I am nearly through.
Do not close my lips." Then he resumed:

"I began my downward career at a saloon bar, licensed and protected by the voters of this town. Had it not been for the license voters, the saloons which have wrecked my life and destroyed my home would not have existed. After the saloons you have established have made me a drunkard and a murderer, I am taken before another bar, the bar of justice, and now the law power will conduct me to the place of execution, and hasten my soul into eternity. I shall appear before another bar then—the judgment bar of God!"

"And there you who have licensed the traffic must appear with me! Think you that the Great Judge will hold me, the poor, weak victim of your saloons, alone responsible for the murder of my wife? Nay! I, in my drunken frenzied, irresponsible condition, have murdered one—but you have deliberately voted for the saloons which have murdered thousands—and these saloons are in full operation today, with your consent."

"You licensed the saloons which made me a murderer. I am the logical product of your own votes, and you are guilty with me, before God and man, for the murder of my wife."

"I stand here today, a condemned murderer, only one of a million, the product of licensed saloon votes. Let your conscience condemn you who have voted for the rum shops. There is a remedy, and every sensible man knows what it is. I am done, your Honor.
You will close by asking God's mercy on my soul; I close by asking the Lord to have mercy on His people, and to open their blind eyes, that they will cease to give their votes to consent to the running of licensed murder mills in our country." [Published by request
